

DESTINY AND PURPOSE

By: gloryfall

INTRO: Em - G - A (x4)

VERSE:

Em            G                            A    Em                            G            A
No matter what may come my way,    The storms this life may bring
Em            G                            A    Em                            G            A
I choose to take each chance to rise,    Let my mind mirror Yours

PRE-CHORUS:

F#m7            A                            B
I live a life of destiny and purpose in You
F#m7    E/G#    B
    I live a life of praise (x2)

CHORUS:

A                            E/G#                            B
There's always something better tomorrow
A                            E/G#                            B
There's always something better in store
A                            E/G#                            B
There's always something better tomorrow
A                            E/G#    B
The best is yet to come
